

This project uses the ADCC as a window comparator that verifies the input analog signal is between 2 and 3 volts DC. If it is below the window low threshold, the LOW LED is illuminated. If it is above the window upper threshold, the HIGH LED is illuminated. If it is within the window, the WINDOW LED is illuminated.